Planned Maintenance

Shipping companies are using time and money on maintaining their fleet. This is normally done according to the Company's Planned Maintenance System (PMS). Different types of systems are in use, and normally there are many complains from onboard and ashore about the system. The main problem is normally not the system but the way the system is used

Below is a list of some typical problems we experience that companies struggle with in order to have an efficient and good implemented system:

To ensure that you at all time have a well-functioning and efficient system it is important to evaluate the system and its effectiveness.

01

Too many work orders

02

Lack of information given
after completion of jobs

03

Incorrect intervals implemented
in the system

04

A need to remove Work
Orders (WOs) or merge them
with another Wos

05

Establish and implement a used friendly PMS

Reina Marine Expert Ship Service Co.Ltd. can assist companies with a complete PMS service for a fixed price. Our service includes an evaluation of the PMS, and assistance to update and maintaining the system. In cooperation with the company we will develop a detailed report containing suggestions for improvements to improve the efficiency of the system.

- REFLECTING OUR VALUES
- Competitive Rates
- Experienced Team
- Transparency
- 24/7 Accessibility

We at Reina Marine Ship Service will dedicate ourselves to discover the specific requirements of each client and surpass all expectations.

Planned Maintenance

An efficient PMS is saving time and money/cost by reducing downtime for maintenance work to a minimum. We can arrange and carry out all planned work onboard in line with agreed specifications for a fixed price. This will reduce the risk and all work will be carried out according to budget.
